

Equipment Lease/Purchase Option

Advantages of Leasing

- Leasing is a "Pay-As-You-Produce" program. Long-term payback periods are eliminated as your equipment can start producing profit for you the same month it starts to produce product.
- Leasing allows you to conserve capital and keep it where it serves you best: your business. Your capital can be used to maintain adequate inventory, or to take advantage of favorable purchase prices and trade discounts. All of which may be more profitable than investing in equipment.
- Leasing becomes an additional source of credit. As a supplementary form of financing, leasing keeps bank lines available for short-term borrowing needs.
- Leasing provides the same guarantees and warranties on the equipment that you would have received had you bought it.
- Leasing is 100% financing. Ownership does not occur until the lease is paid off. There may be tax benefits; however, always consult your tax advisor.
- Leasing offers a fixed rate for the entire lease term, a plus in an uncertain interest rate environment.
- Leasing allows a fixed price purchase at the end of the lease term.
